

LOCAL FOODS, LOCAL PLACES

Supporting food access, gardens, and collaboration in East St. Louis

What is Local Foods, Local Places?

In 2021, East St. Louis participated in a national program called Local Foods, Local Places (LFLP) in which they created a community-driven action plan to support the local food system with help from federal government partners. Action items include expanding gardens, food access, and community health.

How can I get involved?

The Make Health Happen Coalition will continue to host the LFLP subcommittee to drive implementation, monitor progress, and support collaboration. Throughout the year, there will be workgroups and networking events to participate in. For specific information about all of these opportunities or for any other feedback, email localfoodslocalplacesESTL@gmail.com

Next Meeting Date

Friday, May 20, at 1:30 pm via Zoom
Contact joeyjf@illinois.edu for a meeting invite

Illinois Extension
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS URBANA-CHAMPAIGN